

FIRST SOD ON C.N.R. WAS TURNED TO-DAY

Camp Located Five Miles Out of Town and Men Will Work Both Ways—Grading Will Continue Till Freeze-Up—Equipment to be Doubled and More Men Employed Than First Intended—Mayor and Aldermen of Twin Cities Witness Turning of First Sod.

The heavy snow storm last Sunday and Monday and the subsequent showers has somewhat delayed the starting of work in connection with the construction of the C.N.R. grade through Redcliff on the new Hanna branch, mention of which was made in our last issue.

Although delayed for a few days and although the roads are still in bad shape, the preparatory work has started and is being rushed forward as quickly as the horses available will permit.

The equipment and material for the construction of sheds, cooking kitchen and eating apartments have arrived and are being moved out to the location for the first camp, which is about six miles northwest of town. Already a number of men have been engaged at this work, and more are being taken just as fast as they put in an appearance. At present there is work for many more teams.

It was at first the intention of the company to only put out equipment for 100 teams and about 150 men, but applications came in so rapidly that it was not long till twice that number had applied. The company is interested in the matter soon brought this to the attention of the railway officials and were successful in getting them to double the equipment, thus furnishing work for more men and horses.

Mayor, Brown, of Medicine Hat.

LADIES ASK FOR CLOTHING FOR POOR

In order to look after the poor this winter the ladies of the town have Tuesday afternoon to consider the best way to assist the relief committee, by way of distributing clothes to those who cannot afford to buy same.

The following committee was formed, with power to add to their number: Mrs. Gordon, Mrs. Chadwick, Mrs. Symon, Miss Gibson.

The committee asks the public to give them any cast off clothing, especially children's, which they have no further use for. These they will distribute as wanted.

Tuesday, October 15th, has been appointed gathering up of the cast off clothes. The ladies will be thankful for all parcels sent. Mrs. Chadwick has very kindly placed the house next south of the Presbyterian manse at the disposal of the committee, to be used as a store room for clothes given. You are requested to send what clothes you can spare to this house on the above date between the hours of 2-6 and 7-9 p.m., when the committee will be in attendance to receive same.

If you cannot conveniently send your parcel please send word to the Town Engineer's office and he will arrange for their use.

FIRST CONTINGENT ARRIVES SAFELY

Word was received yesterday that the Canadian contingent had arrived safely on the other side of the pond. This is another reminder of Britain's command of the seas.

It is not known definitely where they will be taken to at present, but it is expected that they will drill on Salisbury Plain.

That this was no picnic was shown by the absence of the formal dinner. Out in the waters there was the tris and green hospital ship just returned from France. She had landed on her mast the Red Cross flag at her peak flew the Maple Leaf. There was no cheering for that. That sort of money were of many of comrades who needed nearly the rest and shelter of the homeland. Those who could get on deck were brought up by sympathetic nurses to see the inspiring sight of these, the first of the lion's whelps arriving. All went like clockwork and the voyage said one of the captains.

Three sons of Premier Asquith have volunteered for service with the British army.

ROLLING MILL WILL ENLARGE REDCLIFF PLANT

Will Install Machinery For Making Nuts, Bolts, Nails And Washers—Also Add Galvanizing Plant To Be In Operation Next Spring

Preparations are at present being made by the management of the town Redcliff Rolling Mills for the extensive alteration and enlargement of their present plant.

It is the intention of this company to install machinery suitable for making all kinds of nuts, bolts, washers and other iron goods, and to add a galvanizing plant.

Mr. Husband, the manager of the mill, is present in the east, arranging details in connection with this work, and as soon as he returns operations will start to prepare the building for the new machinery.

The officials of the mill expect to work all winter on the installing of machinery, and to have the plant ready to start operations in the manufacture of the above mentioned articles next spring.

With the return to normal conditions when the rolling mill gets back into its old stride again, and these numerous additions to the present plant, this industry will employ a large number of men and will no doubt be one of the most profitable in Western Canada, and for the present will also be used by the C.P.R.

REDCLIFF RELIEF COMMITTEE

The Editor, Redcliff Review, Dear Sir,

My attention has been drawn to the fact that in some families in town the children are being kept away from school because the parents cannot afford to buy books for them.

If any of your readers have books that their children have outgrown and so have no use for them, will send them to me, I will see that they are given away to deserving cases.

I am, yours truly, J. R. ASKWITH, Chairman of Relief Committee.

To Mr. W. H. Hatcher, Proprietor Redcliff Review:

In acknowledging the receipt from you of $20.00 we wish in the name of the women of Redcliff, and especially of the Redcliff Relief Committee, to thank you for your very generous donation of all the street sales of last Friday to the Relief Fund.

In this we recognize a continuance of your helpful disposition toward all those movements in our town life which tend to ameliorate its trials or advance its real welfare since you have come amongst us. We appreciate your assurance and your hearty support in any of our undertakings for this fund.

With personal regards, and wishing the Redcliff Review every success, Yours very truly, MRS. C. L. GORDON.

Redcliff, Oct. 10th, 1914.

Mr. W. H. Hatcher, Redcliff Review, Dear Sir,

The ladies of the above committee wish to thank you for your very generous gift to the poor of our town in donating the street proceeds of your paper last week.

The results were very satisfactory, and I can assure you that the money given has been most wisely used to the best advantage.

Yours very truly, J. R. ASKWITH, Chairman of Relief Committee.

OIL SHOWINGS IN SOUTHERN ALBERTA

Reports received in the city are to the effect that showings of black oil have been made in the last few days in Alberta, west. Following a cavern which was fixed up a week or two days ago, drilling was resumed on Sunday last. Good progress is now being made by the drillers.

MAKE BIG SUCCESS OF SELLING REVIEWS

Were Well Organized and Campaigned With Vim—Turned in $28.85 to Relief Fund—Relief Committee and Ladies Appreciate Review Donation.

The result of the street sales of the Review last Friday, which was undertaken by a number of young ladies in town, was most satisfactory, and as a reward for their efforts they have been able to hand over to the town the sum of $28.85.

An announced in our last issue the plans for the sale of the Review for the management of the Review free of any charge, so that all they took in went direct to the fund.

While the Review has been completely successful in its efforts for the relief of the young ladies who entered so heartily into the spirit of the undertaking is due to the untiring efforts of the young ladies who entered so heartily into the spirit of the undertaking.

The following are the amounts turned in by the different ladies selling the paper:

FARM PRODUCTS FROM REDCLIFF WIN PRIZES

Roots and Vegetables From S. A. L. Co. Property Near Here Get First Prize—Flax Seed Gets Second Prize—Proof of Excellent Quality of Land.

On several occasions in the past we have given proof that the land in the immediate vicinity of Redcliff was of the best quality and capable of producing the very best grain and roots. If we only had the evidence, it is this coming to hand almost every day. The latest comes as a result of the International Irrigation Congress which was held in Calgary this week.

On the congress the products from the Southern Alberta Land Company's property, which is just outside of Redcliff, were in competition against the world and the result was most gratifying.

The exhibit of roots and vegetables won the first prize of $250. They also took first prize for flax seed, and second for alfalfa. The C. P. R. farm, at Strathmore, took second in roots and vegetables, and the Canadian Wheatlands Co., of Sudbury, won first in alfalfa and first in beans.

There are several factors to be taken into consideration in connection with the winning of the prizes. The soil of the Southern Alberta Land Company, which circumstances contribute to making the winning of the prizes even more noteworthy than would appear by the announcement. The exhibits were from land which was but freshly broken near here, and the soil was in its first state. It had the handicap of a very late start and no extraordinary size was taken in the selection. The land on which these articles were grown is all irrigated, which goes to prove that all that is necessary is water to make the wheat land in this district more productive.

Since the Dominion government is now advising increased acreage for next year and since they are undertaking experiments in irrigation, it would be well if they would consider this district in their program.

BOSTON WINS

The batteries for today in the world series are Bender and Schang for Philadelphia, and Rudolph and Govey for Boston. In the first innings neither team scored.

In the second inning Philadelphia got no runs and Boston two.

The fourth and fifth were duck eggs.

In the sixth Philadelphia scored one run and Boston came back with three. In this inning Boston did more heavy hitting and Bender was taken out of the box.

The seventh was another whitewash for Philadelphia, while Boston scored one more.

At the end of the seventh the score was 6 to 1 for Boston.

FATAL ACCIDENT TO AUTO DRIVER

A fatal automobile accident happened last Friday evening between here and Medicine Hat, in which Henry Curtis lost his life and Philip McKinnis was badly injured. Both were on their way to the hospital, where Mr. Curtis died soon afterwards. Mr. McKinnis has since sufficiently recovered to be removed to his home.

Both men were residing west of here and were not discovered till some time afterwards by two ranchers. They were taken to Medicine Hat hospital, where Mr. Curtis died soon afterwards. Mr. McKinnis has since sufficiently recovered to be removed to his home.

SCHOOL BOARD MUST ENFORCE TRUANCY ACT

So Says Inspector at Board Meeting—School in Excellent Condition—One of Best in Province—Equipment and Accommodation Ample for Present Needs.

The regular meeting of the School Board was held in A. J. Nicholson's office last Monday evening, commencing at 8 o'clock. Chairman Street and Trustees Hayes and Nicholson were present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted. The secretary-informed that the board had received a number of suggestions for salary and current expenses, and on the motion of Trustees Hayes and Nicholson was instructed to interview the town council and see if they could pay over some of the money now due the board.

WESTERN FREIGHT RATES

An Attempt to Divide the Forces Fighting For Freedom

Strong objection is made by Mr. J. E. Walsh, manager of the Transportation Department of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, to the alleged efforts of the Canadian Northern Railway to divide the forces of the Western Farmers and the Canadian manufacturers who are fighting for the readjustment of Western freight rates.

The Manufacturers' organization, through its Transportation Department, has been in the forefront of the battle for reduced freight rates for years, and there has been hardly any move in the Western freight rates' investigation, which has been going on for several years now, about which the manufacturers' expert has not been consulted by those in charge of the case for the Western shippers. The manufacturers were the first to engage a trained railway expert for independent advice in transportation problems, and they gladly put his reports at the disposal of all shippers fighting for better rates and conditions. The manufacturers are, therefore, rather exercised against the C.N.R. for permitting the following strategy to be possible: that a number of the outlying stations in the prairie provinces—

"To whom it may concern," "It has come to the notice of the agents of the Canadian Northern Railway that certain manufacturers are bringing pressure to bear upon the Railway Commission to obtain reductions in the present freight tariffs. The effect of the proposed reductions will not, it is claimed, be of benefit to the farmers of this district in any way, as it will not be sufficient to reduce the cost to the consumer. The reductions, if they become effective, will, however, prove a very serious detriment to the farmers of Saskatchewan, at the Canadian Northern Railway, in connection with the other railways operating in the province, will be compelled to do much further construction work than at present contemplated, as well as the ordering of new equipment to handle the present year's grain crop, and farmers will find that the measures which they expected to help them out in various parts of the province will not be constructed on account of the Canadian Northern being unable to finance the work."

Replying to this circular, which was first published in the "Winnipeg Free Press," Mr. Walsh states:

"The attempt to draw off the fire of the Western farmers by telling them that the chief demand for a readjustment of freight rates originated with the Eastern manufacturers who wanted to increase their profits in trading with the West is too apparent to be effective. The readjustment of freight rates must come in the near future, and the railway would strengthen their position with Government and people if they bowed to the inevitable instead of maintaining a costly warfare against the wishes of the country. We are quite aware of the sacrifices made and the efforts put forth by the Canadian Northern Railway in transportation. We are also aware of the enormous grants of land and money which have been made to this railway company by the people and Government of Canada. The farmers of the West have paid their share in taxes and have aided the railway by patiently submitting to poor service in order that the company might save its money to build new lines. The manufacturers have tolerated poor service and high charges for the same reason. The manufacturers want to see the grain industry of the Canadian North develop and flourish."

MILLING INDUSTRY

It Pays Good Wages, and Affords Employment for a Large Number of People

An important element that enters into the free wheat discussion is the fact that the building of large mills in the western centres of Western Canada has provided a stability and diversity of employment which has been long looked to as a great need. The employees of the four mills in Western Canada spend their money in Western Canada, and the co-incident of Western Canadian merchants and among the farmers of the surrounding community. If we sent our wheat over to the United States to be milled all this money would be spent among United States people for the building up of their communities. It would seem, therefore, that unless the Western farmer is sure he is going to get a substantial increase in price he should be very slow to advocate a change which is bound to bring serious disadvantages not only for the Canadian miller, but for the mixed farmer, and all Western communities, which already have or are seeking big mills.

Comparison of Ages of Famous Generals

Sir John French, the heroic and able commander of the expeditionary force, having just celebrated his sixty-second birthday, and Lord Roberts, the man who piloted the British troops to victory in South Africa, having passed his sixty-second milestone, the world recalls with interest that the men in command of the various armies in Europe are men in the prime of life.

von Moltke is 66 years old and has spent his life studying the art of war. General Joffre is 62 years old and has held his present position for two years. He entered the army as a lad of 18, in time to serve through the Franco-German war. During the siege of Paris he commanded a battery. Kitchener was born in 1850, and, therefore at the present time is a man of sixty-four. And so it is with the other commanders in the field. Yet, this has not always been the case in war. At Waterloo, Napoleon was in his forty-seventh year he was emperor of France before he was 35. Wellington won Waterloo at 46, after a campaign which lasted several years. Marlborough was 59 when he began his great career as head of the British forces, and Nelson won Trafalgar at 47. Ancient history tells a similar story. Alexander the Great conquered the world and died at 32. Julius Caesar, after no less than 20 years of war, was assassinated at 56. Charlemagne was crowned emperor of the west at 58, thereby completing his career of conquest. Gustavus Adolphus died on the field of battle at 38, and Frederick the Great finished his wars at 51. On the American continent, in the war between the north and south, the case was similar, and even in the American war of independence the leaders were comparatively young men. George Washington assumed command of the colonial troops at 43. Grant was 29 when the civil war began, and Thomas was 45, while Lee and Jackson were 37. Benedict Arnold, who has been called the most daring and able cavalry fighter that the north has produced, was 36 when he won the battle of Saratoga for General Gates, and to become a traitor at 40.

The old saying "Young men for action, old men for counsel" apparently is not adhered to as much today. In these days the average youth is bordering on the thirties before it begins to dawn on him that after all his father may possibly know one or two things that he himself does not. What the reason is, it is difficult to say, but it is not impossible that now men are as young physically as sixty-two as they would have been at forty in the so-called good old times. From this it is evident that the law of compensation runs through all nature.

THE REGULAR

Gleaming smoothly, arms a-swinging. The battalion makes its way, Joking gayly with their fellows, To the field of future fray. 'Tis such the men that cheerfully, Spring to the muster roll, And by their undaunted courage Our country's history's told.

Watch them come, the soldiers turn Up the crowded street; Hear the o'erthump, thump, Of the heavily booted feet. Such are the men that cheerfully Spring to the muster roll, And by their eager training Our country's history's told.

Mark their treasured bayonets A glistering in the sun, And note the twinkles in their eyes A sign of harmless fun. Such are the men that cheerfully Spring to the muster roll, And by the eye that aims the sword Our country's history's told.

Hear their swaying daggers Clanking loudly with each swing, And see the steely muscles Flashing 'neath that roddy skin! Such are the men that cheerfully Spring to the muster roll, And by that mighty bodily strength Our country's history's told.

Behold the white gloved fingers, Dremming steadily on their guns, And see their keen eyes search the crowd For their beloved ones! Such are the men that cheerfully Spring to the muster roll, And by the hand that grips the gun Our country's history's told.

See the old flag's gentle folds, As its banner holds it high, Notice, too, the countenance Of the proud old eagle's eye! Such are the men that cheerfully Spring to the muster roll, And 'neath that waving banner Our country's history's told.

Ah! See the little drummer, As with vim he taps his drum, Bobbing head from side to side, And shouting, "Forward, here we come!" Such are the men that cheerfully

Spring to the muster roll, And with such happy lads as these Our country's history's told. A. D. F.

The British consul general here declined this afternoon a present of several dozen white handkerchiefs for the use of the soldiers at the front.

"The British soldiers are not allowed to carry white handkerchiefs," he said, "an enemy seeing them might mistake them for a signal of truce, or surrender."

BELLIGERENTS A BIG PORTION OF POPULATION

Owing to the departure of reservists of the nations now at war, and also of the Canadian contingent, Canada's population has been already considerably decreased, but if the war should persiste until to other nations, the population of the Dominion will be seriously affected. According to the last census we had with us natives of Austria-Hungary to the number of 121,430; Russians, 100,974; Germans, 29,577; Italians, 34,789; French, 17,019; Greeks, 2,640. A large percentage of the Austro-Hungarians and Russians, and to some extent the Germans, are Jews and would not likely want to return to their native country to take part in the war. The men of Austria and Germany would not, of course, be allowed to return in any case, but even then the number would be by no means small. The census figure would be greatly altered, but just to what extent it is difficult to say at this time.

Mrs. Miller, wife of the superintendent of the work on the construction of the C.N.R. grade through here is registered at the Redcliff Hotel.

Mrs. Harbert is collecting pieces of worn women's cloth to make quilts from, and if those having any with them, she will be glad to send for them.

Come to Hicks' Furnishing Store for Heavy Sweaters, Socks and Mitts. We have also a nice line of Sheep-lined Coats. Stop near Redcliff Hotel.

M. A. Proja, who has been acting as stenographer in F. Bailey's law office, left last evening for Lewiston, Idaho, where he will visit for a few months.

During the past week there has been a lively movement in real estate and as a result the council has had to engage men to shovel it back into the street again.

Quite a number from here attended the "At Home" given by Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Pingle in Medicine Hat last Friday evening, and report a most enjoyable evening.

Leo Walsh, who has been down through Saskatchewan helping with the breeding, returned to town this week. He reports very good crops should start one going.

We are informed by E. J. Crowe that he, accompanied by Dr. Bonnar, is starting this month to walk to Toronto. They expect to reach their destination by Christmas.

We have everything necessary for men working on railway construction. When you need anything in this line, call at the only general store in town. T. H. Hicks, near Redcliff Hotel.

Now that the fall is coming on there will likely be the usual socials and other evenings. This reminds us that we should have an orchestra in town. Some one capable of doing so start one going.

J. Bishop, who has charge of the government road work in this district, informs us that he is going to make some improvement on the road between here and the Hat as soon as it dries up a little.

Although work on the new Royal Bank building was delayed for a few days, it is now being proceeded with rapidly. Bricklayers have been busy on the walls and are making great progress.

The huge flume a few miles east of here which is, next to the dam at Bassano, the biggest piece of work in the eastern section of the C.P.R. irrigation section, is completed. Work was turned in for the first time last week, according to Bulletin.

The Review is in receipt of a letter from a one-time resident of this town, in which he states that after making several moves he now wishes he was back in Redcliff again. He says if it were not for the expense he would surely come back home.

The Entre Nous club held their first dance of the season last Monday evening. Although it was got up in very short notice there was a good turn out of about thirty couples. Leonard's orchestra of Medicine Hat furnished the music, which was all that could be desired. A most enjoyable evening was spent.

Mr. C. E. Smith, who has a large vegetable farm near here, brought to town last Friday one of the largest cauliflowers we have ever seen. Mr. Smith put the cauliflower up for a raffie, the proceeds from which he donated to the relief fund. Mr. Broadfoot won the vegetable, and treated the ladies to a fine last Sunday dinner.

While passing the Review office yesterday little Willie Lockwood rapped in front of our window and with eyes and mouth open, gazed at the C.N.R. grade through here. We wondered what was interesting the little fellow and asked. Willie said he stopped to look at the machinery in the station, but was disappointed when he found he had only been looking at the wheels in the engine's head.

Mr. Hume Pingle received word on Wednesday that his cousin, Wm. Currie, died in Medicine Hat last night. Mr. Currie lived in Emerson and was returning from Winnipeg. He was visiting his mother. He was in Redcliff last Saturday visiting Mr. Pingle, and was apparently in the best of health. The remains were shipped to Winnipeg for interment.

Although the heavy fall of snow last Saturday night and Sunday, and the subsequent drifting rain, have made walking and road navigation very bad it will have its good effects besides putting the ground in excellent shape for fall plowing it will also help out the feed question considerably. Farmers are already making another start, and in places are much greener than they have been all summer. Crops, too, which were not cut are sprouting up again, and are furnishing excellent feed for cattle and horses.

We will be pleased to fill any government order, large or small. Broadway Department Store. Lon Harber.

A NEW HYMN

The following hymn will be sung Sabbath evening in the Empress theatre, and often thereafter. Cut it out and take it with you; join in the prayer and the music of it.

Stanza "Allies." B. P. Downes
God of our fathers, at whose foot
We now bow Thy worship call,
Whence grace hath made our Empire strong
Through love of right and hate of wrong.

In this dark hour we plead with Thee
For Britain's cause on land and sea.

Not for the lust of war we fight,
But for the triumph of the right;
Our aims are pure, our cause is just,
The strife we wage is on us thrust.

So, strong in faith, we plead with Thee
For Britain's cause on land and sea.

Awake beneath Thy ample dome,
With many a tender dream of home,
Or clasp in the dust and glare,
With war-bolts burning through the air.

In this dark hour we plead with Thee
For Britain's cause on land and sea.

If wounded in the dreadful fray,
Be Thou their comfort and their stay;
If dying, may they in their pain
Remember Lamb for sinners slain.

In war's dark hour we leave with Thee
All Britain's sons on land and sea.

And soon, O Blessed Prince of Peace,
Bring in the days when wars shall cease.
And men as brothers shall unite
To fill the world with love and light.

Thine O Lord, we plead with Thee
For Britain's cause on land and sea.

AMEN.

SUBMARINE SINKS GERMAN SHIP

Submarine E-9, of the British navy under command of Lieut. Commander Max K. Horton, yesterday made another raid into the mouth of the river Ems and succeeded in sinking a German torpedo destroyer. It was this same submarine under the same commander which made a similar bold attack on the German liner Hela off Heligoland, September 23.

As on the former occasion the E-9 was safely returned to her home port. The action took place at 1 o'clock and was witnessed by the Dutch coast guards on the Dutch island Schiermonnikoog in the north sea off the province of Friesland.

TO THE MEDICINE HAT NEWS.

Two men stood behind prison bars. One was mud and the other stars.

We remember having learned of the above lines at school and we remember having them explained to us.

That no matter what our condition or circumstances in life we could always see "just what we were looking for." If we looked for the bad and many things in everybody and everything around us we would see nothing but mud and would naturally start stinging it, and as a result we would be mired with it ourselves.

On the other hand we were told that if we looked for the good, the charitable and the kind characteristics in those around us we would see a starry firmament, the reflection of which on ourselves would illumine our whole being.

In this respect newspapers are like individuals. The paper that is always looking for mud never sees anything else, and never sings anything else. As a result both the paper and its writers get a most disgusting appearance from continuous association with this unwholesome commodity.

Last Wednesday's Medicine Hat News carries an article in the Review and calls it "dirty politics," because it mentioned that P. L. Storer, secretary of the Conservative Association, had been appointed to take applications from home-coming soldiers to the C.N.R. which is to be built from here to Hanna.

Because the words "Secretary of the Conservative Association" were put after my name the News says it is an attempt to make political capital out of this charitable work.

They were looking for mud and they were nothing else. They lost sight of the fact that this same gentleman sacrificed both his own and his employee's time and tramped the streets in the driest weather in order to assist home-coming get the employment, in return for which he does not get one free piece of mud.

So far as making political capital out of the undertaking, I might say I have taken in about seventy-five names for the work and I challenge the News to produce one single soldier of these 75 who will swear that the work was not done for the money.

If the News can produce such a man I will promise to give Grit at the next election provided the editor of the News makes a similar promise and promises to vote for him if he can produce his man. It's time now to put up or shut up.

31 Ships Carried

Canadian Contingent

A correspondent with the Canadian contingent has sent from Rimouski the following story of the departure of the Canadian troops from Quebec.

"Thirty-one ships were required to carry the men, guns, horses and supplies of the overseas expeditionary force. To convey that number of ships a fleet of 21 warships was requisitioned, the whole movement being the largest and most important ever effected on the Atlantic. It was carried out in a splendid manner, the movement from Valcartier being effected in fine style, and the embarkation and sailing following a well organized plan. The movement of 31,300 troops and 3,000 horses was the biggest war matter that Canada has ever undertaken, and it was performed almost faultlessly.
